List of Local Internet Registries in Europe

Document ID: ripe-118
Obsoletes: ripe-111

ABSTRACT

This document lists the local Internet Registries in Europe.

Introduction

This is a list of European Local Internet Registries in Europe. It is intended to clarify who should be contacted for IP network numbers.

All of the organisations listed allocate IP network numbers. The previously centralised procedures for obtaining IP network numbers from the Global Internet Registry (known as the InterNIC, formerly the DDN NIC) have been replaced by a distributed system. Blocks of Internet Network numbers are now delegated to the RIPE NCC, which in turn delegates blocks of numbers to local registries (IR's). The local IR's in turn, make most of the IP network number assignments in Europe.

Local IR's are of three types. There are "Enterprise" registries "Service Provider" registries and "Last Resort" registries.

An enterprise that wishes to coordinate address space usage internally may make arrangements with the RIPE NCC to become registered as enterprise registry. Anyone within the enterprise concerned should contact the enterprise registry for Internet address space.

Those who intend not to connect to the Internet in the foreseeable future or, at the present time, do not have an IP service provider selected, should contact the "Registry of Last Resort" for the country concerned. If such a registry is not listed below, requests should be directed to the RIPE NCC.

Alternatively those who have a service provider selected should contact the service provider for IP numbers. The service provider is always the preferred registry to obtain address space.

Some organisations appear twice in the list. This is because they act both as "Service Provider" and as "Last Resort" registries. The list is sorted alphabetically by country code. The "Last Resort" registry is listed last for each country.

This list is also quite definitely not a comprehensive list of Internet service providers in Europe and should not be used as such. If you are looking for Internet service and do not have sufficient information, please contact the RIPE NCC with details of exactly what service you require in which location(s). The NCC will then notify all known service providers of the service request.

This document will be updated regularly every few months and thus may be slightly out of date. The latest up-to-date information can be found in the RIPE Document store under the title "registries" which is equivalent to the URL ftp://ftp.ripe.net/ripe/registries/

If you have any queries, please do not hesitate to contact the RIPE NCC at <ncc@ripe.net>, telephone +31 20 592 5065, fax +31 20 592 5090.
