#	SUGGESTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENTS TO THESE EVENTS (PLEASE MAKE SURE TO NOTE WHICH EVENT YOUR COMMENT PERTAINS TO):	DATE
1	I am by no means an expert on the area and I feel that Technology Deep Dive was more a basic tutorial than a deep dive.	8/23/2019 2:32 PM
2	Open session time (weekday mornings prior to 10:00) were very useful. But looks like IETF doesn't support/encourage that. Wiki URL/agenda was tough to find and there was no info on the posters or the app	8/23/2019 5:21 AM
3	"Open Session Time" was really a waste of time which would have been better spent by allocating that time to WG Meetings -- so that the WG meetings could have more time for actual discussions (discussions as different from presentations).	8/7/2019 9:48 AM
4	The Hackdemo Happy Hour was very unorganized and chaotic. For me it was more like a snack break. This year the location was not very good. I think it is better if the demos are set up in a Circle or square with the food in the middle and people going around seeing all demos.	8/7/2019 5:32 AM
5	N/A	8/3/2019 6:13 AM
6	I did not attend the technology deep dive due to conflicts. I will watch it on youtube.	8/2/2019 1:31 AM
7	We had a program and was almost impossible to participate in the WG and the rest of the event.	8/2/2019 1:21 AM
8	Need a bigger room for HotRFC	8/2/2019 12:12 AM
9	I like the new timing, i.e., sessions starting at 10:00am. This is something that should continue.	8/1/2019 11:25 PM
10	Hackathons: I have no idea how to enforce this, but because the hackathons are getting so large now, there needs to be a way to prevent "tourists" - these are people who are there to mostly network and not hack on projects, and are taking advantage of free food.	8/1/2019 10:39 PM
11	The room for HotRFC was too small – I couldn't get in the door for the crowd	8/1/2019 9:51 PM
12	Enabling of remote participation in the entire workshop time	8/1/2019 7:19 PM
13	Other awesome topics for technology deep dive: How radio interfaces (WiFi, celluar) work, or a panel session with OS vendors (FreeBSD, Linux, Windows etc) discussing networking stack challenges in OS.	8/1/2019 5:53 PM
14	the technology deep dive was quite interesting, but I needed a bit more practical examples or information to fully appreciate it. Maybe I am not exactly from the right domain, but this was my feeling after the presentation.	8/1/2019 5:16 PM

| 15	HotRFC needs a much bigger room	8/1/2019 4:55 PM
16	Not really. Several of these happened on the Sunday, when I'm always fully occupied in a non-IETF-related meeting. So: kudos for setting these up, sorry I'm unable to attend.	8/1/2019 4:36 PM
17	I attended remotely.	8/1/2019 9:34 AM
18	HotRFC wasn't useful to me this meeting, but I love the format, and it's been extremely useful at other meetings.	8/1/2019 9:01 AM
19	It is possible brown-paper-bag lunch models we tried before work well. I'd like to see that come back. It is possible working-breakfast models could work. Dinner is less fruitful.	8/1/2019 8:44 AM
20	Technology Deep Dives was really useful; would like more Deep Dive sessions....	8/1/2019 8:32 AM
21	I know this is unpopular but... having engaging presenters would make these talks even better! One was excellent, one was great, the other was a snorefest. All 3 were technically sound, but I found myself looking for a caffeine drip. It'd be nice to take this into consideration.	8/1/2019 8:22 AM

#	PLEASE SHARE ANY COMMENTS ABOUT YOUR USE OF MEETECHO FOR IETF 105	DATE
1	I know it's not directly IETF, but it was very hard to find the meetecho links to join ANRW	8/23/2019 2:32 PM
2	Meetecho worked great	8/23/2019 3:11 AM
3	This was my first Meetecho experience. I found it difficult to navigate and to find the content I wanted to participate in.	8/4/2019 4:56 PM
4	first few seconds of audio from remote participants was systematically weird.	8/3/2019 6:27 AM
5	thanks	8/3/2019 6:13 AM
6	Had more drop-outs than in past meetings. Probably was a network issue re my room.	8/2/2019 12:12 AM
7	Meetecho is a great tool, and an equally great set of people supporting it.	8/1/2019 11:25 PM
8	Still lacking clear instructions on how to use. Network seemed glitchy this time for remote presenters (choppy audio and video)	8/1/2019 9:17 PM

9	I was very pleased how how well Meetecho works. I watched the short online tutorial video (which is a bit out of date, and perhaps should be updated) and read the support page walkthrough of the various buttons, icons, etc., and didn't experience any problems during the week. While I was prepared to virtually raise my hand (I had a headset on just in case), I found that the integrated jabber window made it unnecessary - I was able to make my comments via jabber and the jabber scribe or WG chair read them to the room. I was also able to use the jabber window to communicate with @Meetcho if there were any mike or camera issues, and they were EXTREMELY responsive! I also found Etherpad very useful when it's used. Not all WGs use it, but I would encourage all of those that don't use it to switch to it for the live meetings. There was a bit of trouble this meeting with duplicate Etherpads, but that's a tooling issue that I'm sure will be addressed for the next meeting. An excellent way to use Ethernet is prior to the meeting for the WG chair or secretary to paste in the meeting agenda, and then the notes for each item on the agenda can just be typed in following each agenda topic. It's also a good practice that if anyone is going to add to the Etherpad, they type in their name at the top of the page, so that their text color can be attributed to them. What could be improved? This probably isn't immediately feasible, but two cameras in each room (one pointed to the front, the other to the mike line) would be huge. That way you can watch both ends of the conversation at once. Also, in the Meetecho UI, it might be better to increase the size of the camera image and have the camera image and the slides vertically placed one on top of each other, rather than the smaller camera image over to the side. Or perhaps that could be an option. I know that you can make the camera image larger, but then you lose the slides. But on the whole, being remote worked much better than I had expected, and for that I would like to thank everyone that's been working on making this possible, starting with the Meetecho team. That said, my preference is still to attend in person if possible. :-)	8/1/2019 9:16 PM
10	Extremely useful and well supported. The remote attendance was almost impossible before it was introduced	8/1/2019 8:35 PM
11	It was fine and interactive because we were able share what was going on in the room for workgroup discussions in Montreal though the audio some times went off but the slides and the videos were nice... Thank you so much for the opportunity looking forward for IETF 106	8/1/2019 7:19 PM
12	Worked well. It's not perfect but it's about as good as you're going to get.	8/1/2019 5:48 PM
13	Overall good.	8/1/2019 5:47 PM
14	Use meetecho to be jabber scribe during one WG session. It worked well vs trying to remember or create a jabber account and how to connect and what client to use.	8/1/2019 4:30 PM
15	In house was better than Prague where I was getting stalls and drops.	8/1/2019 10:22 AM
16	Meetecho is awesome and keeps getting better. Mad props to the people who provide it. About the only thing I can think that might be missing is some way to "hum" or raise a hand when a poll is taken at a meeting. (can sort of do it via chat room, of course)	8/1/2019 9:28 AM
17	Worked great for me.	8/1/2019 9:14 AM
18	Alhtough it has really improved during the last 2 years, it still needs some work to better integrate with the agenda and the meeting site. There are still events (specially side meetings) where meetecho can help on discussions (or lighter alternative)	8/1/2019 8:59 AM
19	It seemed to work for the remotes. it worked better than prior times (less dropouts, less can-you-hear-me stuff)	8/1/2019 8:44 AM
20	The chat dropped at times and I didn't I was missing discussions there until it was too late for me to relay the message to the mic (jabber scribe). This happened twice.	8/1/2019 8:34 AM
21	Worked well for me. Thanks to the Meetecho team for making remote participation possible.	8/1/2019 8:24 AM
22	All should attend in person.	8/1/2019 8:23 AM
23	Meetecho was fantastic!	8/1/2019 8:22 AM

18	I did not answer 'excellent' only because it's a bit far away from where I live and, also, nothing beats Hawaii (swimming in the ocean before the sessions...it was great!)	8/1/2019 11:38 AM
19	Relatively convenient transportation to/from the venue. Good facilities.	8/1/2019 9:28 AM
20	It's a good venue.	8/1/2019 8:54 AM
21	It's nice, but the travel between downtown and airport was a bit rough (the traffic was very high due to construction)	8/1/2019 8:47 AM

23	Easy to get around on foot and metro. Great selection of places to eat. Sunny.	8/1/2019 8:29 AM
24	The city is easily reached from almost anywhere in the world, it has a vibrant culture, excellent restaurants and cafes and Canada is a well liked country.	8/1/2019 8:25 AM

4	Venue - city and hotel - was good from an attendee perspective. No doubt there are other considerations so I'm answering "maybe". Also appropriate some variation in locations so don't like to see any one place be used too often (Prague for example is a great venue but seems heavily recurrent).	8/1/2019 4:40 PM

#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	Can't remember any off-hand (I've presented one myself, which I obviously remember!)	8/28/2019 1:30 AM
2	Don't remember what was when	8/23/2019 4:31 AM
3	Best are single speaker, tightly focused, and outside normal IETF remit but forward looking research/science	8/23/2019 4:17 AM
4	Very good. Usually the technical presentation is good. In addition, the discussion and comments that follow are very valuable	8/23/2019 4:04 AM
5	The tech plenary in Montreal was wonderful. We need more like it.	8/23/2019 3:34 AM
6	Operational experiential perspectives - examples such as the Cloudflare presentation a few years ago and Tim Shepard's TCP presentation from a few decades past.	8/23/2019 3:10 AM
7	i find all of them interesting	8/20/2019 12:42 AM
8	New technologiers (5G) and security	8/14/2019 11:53 PM
9	The most recent on privacy was very good. The talk given by the Postel winner on installations in Nepal was excellent. Other recent ones were forgettable.	8/11/2019 3:17 PM
10	105	8/10/2019 4:03 AM
11	Like them all	8/9/2019 5:16 AM
12	Topic regarding to satellite network. Because it will be new backbone network in the near future.	8/8/2019 3:27 PM
13	in general they are useful, I attended the one in IETF101 that I remember. I found the privacy one very useful since t addressed a hot topic and provided a wider view.	8/7/2019 3:17 PM
14	Technical plenaries are valuable when they provide good technical information for the community.	8/7/2019 9:50 AM
15	I remember fondly the one where a speaker talked about the DNS hijack that happened. In general I like to have speakers during the plenary that talk about an event or events that recently occurred or new big trends.	8/7/2019 5:38 AM
16	Vehicle communications BGP Measurements Measurement-driven protocol design It's hard to say why I remember them, but I guess that afterwards they resonated with something in my day to day activities.	8/5/2019 12:17 AM
17	The privacy one this time was spot on: technically and from a speaker point of view	8/4/2019 10:29 PM
18	Privacy	8/4/2019 12:44 PM
19	Can't remember. I've never found the plenaries particularly memorable.	8/2/2019 7:05 AM
20	don't remember	8/2/2019 6:07 AM
21	The privacy topic at IETF 105 because it's really relevant. I liked how the speakers related the topic to standards.	8/2/2019 3:38 AM
22	Few lately have been that useful. I would prefer introductions to topics near-but-outside the IETF, like layer 2 protocols, how other SDOs work, and so on.	8/2/2019 1:50 AM
23	The legal intercept topic was quite lively, and it was good that so many celebrities and political figures (Richard Nixon) could join us.	8/2/2019 1:40 AM
24	I enjoy technical plenaries on privacy and security	8/2/2019 1:35 AM
25	sorry, it's all a blur. Most were only a 7/10.	8/2/2019 1:34 AM

26	The technical plenary at Montreal was excellent. Often times, the sessions are very timely and delivered by researchers and engineers well known in their field of speciality.	8/1/2019 11:28 PM
27	topics on network security and privacy	8/1/2019 10:14 PM
28	Recall the "MPLS at 10 years" (or a similar title), that was a topic that was both presented by those knowing the subject matter and it was relevant to the industry.	8/1/2019 8:48 PM
29	Privacy Considerations at IETF105	8/1/2019 5:45 PM
30	don't remember	8/1/2019 5:36 PM
31	It would be a mistake to think technical plenaries are so very memorable.	8/1/2019 5:02 PM
32	Don't really remember (which I guess says something in itself)	8/1/2019 4:42 PM
33	In 4 years, the best one was Dave Clark's talk on tussle.	8/1/2019 2:55 PM
34	The last one in Monreal was great, really eye-opening for me.	8/1/2019 2:21 PM
35	Steve Bellovoin, David Clark, SamKnows. The broadest interest ones (esp ones that reach beyond pure technology).	8/1/2019 1:07 PM
36	Snowden discussion was the most striking; others of interest were the V2V and satellite talks.	8/1/2019 11:53 AM
37	Mostly, they are weak and not memorable. IETF 105 was exceptionally good (excellent speakers with real things to say).	8/1/2019 11:29 AM
38	The Montreal plenary on privacy was both informative and timely.	8/1/2019 11:07 AM
39	Generally not very useful - hence the reason to skip. This one was better because it was more applicable to my areas of interest.	8/1/2019 10:23 AM
40	The IETF105 plenary was the most valuable I've been to. I don't remember much from the technical plenaries at IETFs 99, 101, or 104.	8/1/2019 9:06 AM
41	I don't think technical plenaries are generally valuable.	8/1/2019 8:56 AM
42	the ones i remember were Hannes, Dave Clark, and Bellovin; all were excellent.	8/1/2019 8:46 AM
43	the hourglass: lasting model the tussle: lasting phrase-of-art for what we do the WAP vs Internet: amazingly cool dance-off (wap lost)	8/1/2019 8:46 AM
44	IETF105 tech plenaries (Bellovin and Narayan) on privacy were quite good. I can't remember any notable past plenaries, so they probably weren't bad but didn't make a lasting impression.	8/1/2019 8:46 AM
45	Vehicular Comms was memorable in a good way.	8/1/2019 8:40 AM
46	Interesting and valuable in general	8/1/2019 8:37 AM
47	Steve Deering, waist stack. yeah some time ago.	8/1/2019 8:36 AM
48	Can't remember.	8/1/2019 8:32 AM
49	101...it was the only other one I've attended, thus memorable	8/1/2019 8:30 AM
50	IRTF Open where talks are invited.	8/1/2019 8:26 AM
51	Security and privacy related are always interesting as that's one of the most compelling problems we are dealing with. I think we've overdone IOT.	8/1/2019 8:26 AM

16	Combination of time management and time allocation - but it was a short overrun	8/1/2019 10:28 AM
17	We had a lot of topics come in after the agenda was finalized. We reduced to one hour because we thought we only had one topic. To me lesson learned, we need 2 hours for DISPATCH/ART joint meeting. While we have early deadlines for DISPATCH, ART area topics that need f2f discussion can arise later and it's important to the area that we have time for discussion.	8/1/2019 8:30 AM

1	I think f2f IETF meeting are always productive since e.g. conference call does not provide the same level of sharing of infor and discussion.	8/26/2019 1:35 AM
2	Many important people in the relevant WGs didn't come. This may be partly caused by the remote participation option. As a result, hallway discussions were almost absent.	8/25/2019 5:40 PM
3	Issues with US Dept of Commerce lack of clarity on standards and tech transfer meant many participants were not allowed fo speak as meetings not considered "public" by US govt. Many companies ignored but many did not. This impeded discussion in meetings.	8/23/2019 3:30 AM
4	Too much "unstructured" time and not enough WG time for actual discussions of ongoing work or of proposed new work. Please kill the "unstructured" time and expand WG time.	8/7/2019 9:55 AM
5	Morning open time was very useful	8/4/2019 11:13 PM
6	There is much less activity in the subject areas that I participate it.	8/2/2019 7:09 AM
7	I really liked the organization of unstructured time.	8/2/2019 1:06 AM
8	My productivity has largely come about, as a newcomer by finally "getting it" with regards to how to, operationally, interact with people. And having former colleagues introduce me to lots of people which in turn, snowballed.	8/1/2019 5:59 PM

| 9	I think the side meetings were more productive than the Wg meetings.	8/1/2019 9:00 AM
10	too soon to say if there is a trend, but it was more productive. I think formally allowing unstructured time meant we had a permissive sense "this side-bar stuff is ok and justified" so we did it, and then focussed in the room on what we want to do.	8/1/2019 8:50 AM
11	Starting sessions at 10am worked great for me. I had valuable meetings each morning that would be been more difficult to schedule otherwise	8/1/2019 8:43 AM

3	I was unable to attend due to work constraints. I would have preferred to be have been there if possible.	8/1/2019 9:17 PM
4	Primarily an issue of not enough relevant WG work at the moment. I've been attending fairly regularly for over 12 years and I suspect interesting stuff will return, but for now there's not enough to justify long-haul attendance.	8/1/2019 5:49 PM

| 5	Tired of paying to go to IETF meetings only to deal with abuse from some people and/or people hijacking technical discussions with complaints about "tone". Also, it's easier to attend remotely when one is already in the meeting time zone, so in some sense it makes more sense to attend in person for meetings in distant lands.	8/1/2019 9:30 AM
6	Family medical issue.	8/1/2019 9:14 AM
7	I have been participating in IETFs since 2013, and I have tried to attend at least one IETF per year and received three times the ISOC fellowship, which really helped to improve and increment my contributions to the IETF. As a counterpart, I tried to contribute not only with documents and implementations, but also helping at meet and greet and newcomers guidance. Given that the fellowship program is no longer available, even a partial help (maybe air ticket, reduced registration or hotel) could have helped me to attend to IETF105. I hope this alternative is considered in the future, correlated to the IETF contributions in the past. Finally, I have been giving talks in Latin America in different events to provide an IETF standards updates and to provide guiding to the industry on using IETF-based IoT standards.	8/1/2019 9:05 AM

2	Visas are difficult for most countries.	8/7/2019 9:56 AM
3	It was everyhthing easy, buy the scale in US and the need of transit visa for there made it a bit more difficult.	8/2/2019 1:27 AM
4	Applied for eTA and ESTA (transit via US). Both are fairly seemless. I got a bad egg at immigration into Canada, who was more aggressive than the CBP officer!	8/1/2019 6:01 PM

14	This survey is much better than most surveys I take on any subject. (I never encountered a question where I didn't find a suitable alternative to choose.)	8/2/2019 7:10 AM
15	have a shorter version of the survey	8/2/2019 6:20 AM
16	Did you have any mold issues with the hotel? Did the IETF100 discussion and experience make you more or less willing to return to Singapore? Did you find enough food for lunch, given that Place Ville Marie was under construction?	8/2/2019 1:43 AM
17	Policy Makers Program	8/2/2019 1:29 AM
18	I thought the ANRW and unstructured time questions were poorly worded. It would be nice if ANRW presentations didn't overlap so much with WG meetings. Maybe do ANRW on Friday or such. The unstructured time question was bad, since I'm opposed to some of the options, and it didn't ask if we liked the way it was done at this meeting (which I did like).	8/2/2019 1:08 AM

24	As it has been a hot topic, you might want to ask people for observing inappropriate behavior / harassements. This way maybe it will be more easy to monitor if the efforts that are undertaken to limit this yield the expected results.	8/1/2019 5:29 PM

25	Would you consider attending only remotely, and why?	8/1/2019 5:12 PM

1	Actually, I'm pretty happy with the way the IETF works. Thanks.	8/28/2019 1:45 AM
2	I was pretty happy at IETF Montreal. Especially the food in the city :)	8/25/2019 11:38 AM
3	Lower rate for Academics.	8/23/2019 6:01 AM
4	offer meetecho also in some rooms that can be booked for side meetings	8/23/2019 4:38 AM
5	Schedule the WG sessions earlier so people who may not be able to attend all 5 days can see if they can shorten their attendance by a day or two. A lot of the administrative updates during the Plenary could be published online for people to read saving time for real discussions or shortening the session.	8/23/2019 3:45 AM
6	The IETF needs some work. IESG and IAB members need to fully disclose their affiliations and if they are a not-for-profit they need to disclose their funding sources. IESG members and WG chairs should not be the primary authors on major work items. We need independent and transparent leadership. There needs to be a better and more light weight process for getting new WGs and new work approved and started. There needs to be better information on how to deal with situations with significant conflict. Some times the IETF moves things forward because they want it done, even if there is significant push back. Some times they will refuse to let things move forward if there is any push back. Most all decisions in the IETF from IETF and IRTF seem arbitrary and based on personal opinion. That makes this organization like current politics, where radical changes can happen based on who is currently in leadership.	8/23/2019 3:42 AM
7	Please go back to the U.S. like we used to! You have no idea how much more difficult it is to get travel budget for Singapore, or Thailand. Makes it more likely I can't attend.	8/23/2019 3:39 AM
8	Time before lunch vs after linch is very unbalance: need to have more timetabled hours pre-lunch	8/23/2019 3:15 AM
9	Thanks for the breakfast, it was useful. Also well appreciated the relatively low price of the main hotel.	8/12/2019 11:13 PM
10	Cost to attend in person is increasingly difficult to cover. What I would like to see is humbler but effective meeting. I think we can have an effective meeting in less fancy place, where each batch of coffee does not cost 100 USD. Can we meed in less expensive cities, in less expensive venues, and save costs for everyone, please?	8/12/2019 10:48 PM
11	Would be nice to have meetings in the US again. I understand there are visa issues, but I wonder if it's more of a red herring and a bit of a political statement	8/12/2019 6:34 AM
12	Please KILL OFF the unstructured meeting time and restore that time for actual WG meetings.	8/7/2019 9:57 AM
13	none	8/7/2019 5:42 AM
14	Set the temperature in the rooms so as to avoid people freezing	8/4/2019 11:27 PM
15	Any food options should be labeled with all allergens	8/3/2019 10:55 AM
16	thanks	8/3/2019 6:18 AM
17	more table and chairs near IETF registration area	8/2/2019 6:20 AM
18	It would be helpful if the working groups would specify which documents will be discussed in their meetings.	8/2/2019 2:52 AM
19	more side meeting rooms like collar. It was the perfect size. Too big a room kills communication. This hotel could have perhaps used arrows on the floor like London.	8/2/2019 1:43 AM
20	Allow Policy Makers Program Atendees to participate more in the WG, and explain better what are the objectives for their presence there.	8/2/2019 1:29 AM

21	As an attendee of IETFs since IETF 45, the one thing I have always appreciated is the willingness of the IETF Secretariat to work with the community. I want to single them out once again for the dedication to making sure that every IETF is a success.	8/1/2019 11:36 PM
22	Preventing the air conditioning system to over-cool the meeting rooms would be nice.	8/1/2019 10:10 PM
23	There are so many conflicts, maybe make Friday a full(er) day?	8/1/2019 9:57 PM
24	See my previous comments regarding possible Meetecho improvements.	8/1/2019 9:18 PM
25	Jabber scribe for some remote sessions is inexisten	8/1/2019 8:37 PM
26	to save resources (many flights for each face2face anyway) it should be recommended during sign up to consider bring own / recycle plastic cover for name badge and own coffee/tea mug etc.	8/1/2019 7:35 PM
27	Having been a remote participant I was trying to catchup with the flow of the discussion at the start but later follwed so i would like the topics to be introduced earlier on for a better participation and interaction.	8/1/2019 7:34 PM
28	Please work with chairs and AD directors on the meeting clashes, as others also complained about it. Maybe get a feel from attendees on lists and ask before 106's agenda is finalised with "what WG sessions are you planning on attending?" and get a better picture from actual attendees and where they showing up to, being prepared to move things in response.	8/1/2019 6:04 PM
29	Support to participants from East African countries like Uganda to come and attend in person	8/1/2019 5:53 PM
30	More WG time to reduce clashes.	8/1/2019 5:50 PM
31	- keep the unstructured time, 1 or 2 slots of 1 hour is very useful (morning/evening). - don't make the side meetings too organized/supported. - try experimenting "extra-hours" with late night sessions/events.	8/1/2019 5:50 PM
32	The meeting should be organized regionally like in almost all the countries	8/1/2019 5:15 PM
33	Put a sign on each meeting room door to say which meetings are inside. This could be a daily schedule (so you don't have to change it for every meeting). But please do it in a large font!	8/1/2019 5:12 PM
34	The coffee provided in the breaks was of abysmal quality. Please improve!	8/1/2019 4:55 PM
35	The lounge areas are very important. The QE hotel has some very good ones, but lacked a bit in round tables (6-8 ppl, with power!) where you can conduct spontaneous meetings. But I'm just wishing for icing on the very good cake! :-) Kudos to you all for stellar work! <3	8/1/2019 4:46 PM
36	I know it's pointless.. but I will ask again.. Please have the agenda worked out much earlier, like 2 months. People with families may not be able to come for 8 days. And for intercontinental travels one cannot wait to book - at least those of us with limited travel budgets cannot.	8/1/2019 4:28 PM
37	I understand that finding the location for the IETF meeting is a challenge. But choosing places four years in a row (Singapore, Bangkok, Singapore, and again Bangkok, that are very far for many participants will significantly reduce the number of in-person participants and thus will make meetings less productive.	8/1/2019 2:30 PM
38	IETF105 had the exact same breakfast every day. Some variation would be nice.	8/1/2019 1:38 PM
39	Could you please hold a meeting in Japan? It is convenient for Asians.	8/1/2019 12:53 PM
40	Free time slots of more than 90 minutes would not make any sense as that is sufficiently long for a technical discussion on a single issue or small set of related issues.	8/1/2019 10:29 AM
41	Poll people who have attended IETF in the past N years but who didn't attend the last IETF meeting. Poll people who participate on mailing lists whether or not they attend meetings (in person or remotely) and among other things ask what factors would affect their decision to attend (in person or remotely).	8/1/2019 9:32 AM
42	Provide child care at the venue.	8/1/2019 9:09 AM
43	get working groups to be strategic about use of in person time. Don't aim meetings at tourists. Don't try to discuss everything. Focus focus focus.	8/1/2019 9:02 AM

44	I thought the IETF chair's lecture about professionalism and tolerance was WAY out of line given her unprofessional and intolerant behavior on the ietf mailing list. I thought her emails had the opposite effect of their claimed reason for sending them (to ensure open communication for all) and the only thing she should've said at the mic in the plenary was "I am so sorry for my behavior, please forgive me"	8/1/2019 8:54 AM
45	Please move side-meeting time slots to something more useful than 8am in the morning. Prague was much better in that regard.	8/1/2019 8:51 AM
46	I would love it if the working group timing could be earlier so I could book my flights accordingly.	8/1/2019 8:45 AM
47	The meeting plan/structure for IETF105 was brilliant. Try to avoid "fixing" it because it isn't broken.	8/1/2019 8:39 AM
48	2 or 3 hours for lunch breaks would be good because it takes a lot of time to have lunches with other people usually and lunches are good opportunities to discuss work.	8/1/2019 8:38 AM
49	Please keep the noise down on the attendees mailing list.	8/1/2019 8:33 AM
50	I meanwhile find virtual interim meetings often more productive than official WG meetings since virtual interims tend to be more clearly focused on discussing/closing open issues.	8/1/2019 8:33 AM
51	Fix the WiFi so it's actually usable.	8/1/2019 8:31 AM
52	I really hate Prague and Germany. Can we stop going there so much?	8/1/2019 8:25 AM
